

Soldiers at Siachen

Watch out for Baptist Coelho's mixed media exhibition titled You Can't Afford to Have Emotions Out There. It shows the vulnerable side of our soldiers. Comprising photographs, videos and installations, it talks about layers of emotions which lie hidden behind the rugged Siachen terrain. His work unfolds his journey and interaction with the officers and soldiers out there. With symbolic representation of pictures like discarded uniforms, torn parachutes, rusted jerry cans, military provisions along with individual narratives, this exhibition surely forces you to think.
